

All for this one. The FCC should be fostering competition and there is no broadband competition when I have only one choice where I live.